When asked [illegible] how he had [illegible] money, he said that [illegible] Italy [illegible] and left him a [illegible]. One of the detectives saw Mike take a lamp [illegible] to his room and take a roll of bills from his trunk. Then they put him under arrest. Mike, finding himself in a tight place, made a confession on being promised that he should not be prosecuted. The detectives have recovered $10,278 of the money taken from the murdered man. Mike gave the names of the murderers. Their [illegible] found.

Sullivan's Embezzlement Growing.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—A [illegible] special from Indianapolis says that J. E. Sullivan's embezzlement [illegible] likely to lead to further disclosures of the misuse of funds by county officers. County Treasurer Loftin was asked if he had [illegible] a large amount of paper from his predecessor, Hiram W. Miller. He [illegible] he had accepted [illegible] notes. Mr. Loftin said: "At first I refused to accept them and demanded the cash, but on the advice of my bondsmen I [illegible] notes for collection. I did not [illegible], but agreed to collect [illegible] every nerve to [illegible] I have succeeded in [illegible]."

New Bishop of Michigan.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 7.—Rev. Dr. Henry G. Satterlee, [illegible] Church, New York, was elected bishop of Michigan by a practically unanimous vote [illegible] special session of the clergy and laity of this diocese yesterday afternoon. There is some doubt expressed as to [illegible].

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 7.—S. A. Jacobowsky, general merchant at Summit, Miss., has assigned, owing to short crops and poor collections. No statement.

OFF FOR OKLAHOMA.

Kansas City Will Send Hundreds of Her Unemployed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 7.—The Oklahoma fever has reached Kansas City, and the railroads leading out of this city to the west are preparing for a great increase of travel toward that promised land. Hundreds of men, with families, are out of work. Young men from the east who came here last fall, expecting to get rich immediately, have been disappointed, and many of them have not been fortunate enough to secure positions of any kind. They are planning, together with a vast horde of dwellers in tents in the suburbs, to move to free homes and independence.

The ex-real estate agents are getting their boards ready to go up and possess the land. Several Oklahoma land companies have already been projected by well known capitalists in and about the Gate City, and an exodus may be looked for at any moment. Newspaper men, grocery men, lawyers, bankers and men representing almost every class of business are earnestly talking about Oklahoma and how to get there. Hundreds of letters come here daily from the territory tributary to Kansas City in regard to the opening of Oklahoma, all filled with inquiries, and many who have written such letters are already in Kansas City, purchasing supplies and arranging to leave as soon as the opening is made and the first exodus from the city shall begin. The political sides of the discussion is not being neglected, and a Kansas City man is already spoken of for the first governor.

A Vessel Sunk at Sea.

It Goes Down With Probably a Hundred Lives Lost.

STRUCK BY A BRITISH SHIP.

An Unknown Four Masted Steamer in Collision Off the Coast of Beachy Head—It Sinks in Eight Minutes After the Accident—Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The British bark Largo Bay, bound for Auckland, was towed to Spithead to-day in a sinking condition. She reports that on Monday night last she was in collision with an unknown four-masted steamer off Beachy Head, and that the steamer was sunk with all on board. The seamen of the Largo Bay say they estimate that the crew and passengers together numbered at least one hundred persons. The steamer sunk eight minutes after the collision occured.

The London News' Wail.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—The Daily News, commenting on the Samoan situation, says: "Prince Bismarck has disregarded his obligations to Great Britain in the most flagrant way, and Count Herbert Bismarck's ostentatious friendliness for America is inadequate to recompense us or our Australian colonies. A policy of subservience to Germany which procures us no appreciable advantages is neither a triumph of diplomatic skill nor a solace to National pride."

A Cardinal Dead.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The death is announced at Rome of Cardinal Ledochowski, formerly primate of Poland and archbishop of Posen. He was imprisoned by Prince Bismarck, but was released on his promise to reside abroad.

The police of Vilna have forced Polish trades people to sign a declaration that they will not speak Polish among themselves or customers on pain of the closure of their shops.

Minister Pendleton All Right.

BERLIN, Feb. 7.—The report that Judge Lambert Tree, United States minister to Russia, is acting as the representative of Mr. George H. Pendleton, the American minister here, is without foundation. Mr. Pendleton, though ailing, is constantly at work. He has not been required to call at the foreign office for some time.

Only Woman Alderman in Existence.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—The London aldermen include one women, Miss Cons, the lady who manages the philanthropic coffee tavern and musical hall and lives in the slums looking after her property. She is a remarkable woman, is capable and intelligent, and is the only female alderman in existence.

Archbishop Corrigan and the Pope.

ROME, Feb. 7.—The Vatican authorizes denial of the assertions published in the Italian papers that Dr. Corrigan, archbishop of New York, has ever disagreed with the pope on the Irish question.

The Governor of Cuba.

MADRID, Feb. 7.—Gen. Salamanca has been appointed captain general of Cuba, in place of Gen. Martin, who has resigned.

Pasteur's Latest Great Discovery.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—M. Pasteur is confident of the efficacy of his diphtheria discovery.

The Result of a Game of Cards.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7.—At Edinburg, ten miles north of here, George Fender, a night watchman, shot and instantly killed Charley Winterberg, the twenty-two-year-old son of a prominent man of that place, at an early hour this morning. The trouble originated from a game of cards which the two were playing. Fender, who bears a bad reputation, was arrested and taken to Franklin for safe keeping, as mobbing was expected.

A Small Village Burned.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 7.—The greater portion of the business section of Walkerton, a small village at the intersection of the Baltimore & Ohio and Indianapolis, Peru & Chicago railways, was burned early this morning. The loss will exceed $35,000 and only a very small part of it is covered by insurance.

A Big Gusher Discovered.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 7.—The immense gas well just discovered at Kingsville daily discharges over six million feet of gas. It is largely owned by Detroit capitalists and is less than twenty-five miles from this city.

A Thing of the Past.

The Great Street Car Strike Virtually Over.

CARS NEARLY ALL RUNNING.

Strikers Compelled to Go Back as Individuals Only—The Cost of the Strike Will Reach Nearly Half a Million Dollars. Who Killed Striker McGowan?

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The great tie-up is over. Some cars are running on all the surface roads, and on nearly all of them the full number are running. The reserve police are still kept on duty, and the patrol wagons are still kept in readiness, but the officers have been withdrawn from most of the cars. The strikers are pouring back to the depots in search of work. Generally speaking, the roads are glad to have their old hands if they come as individuals.

The roads are unanimous in refusing to employ any man who comes as the representative of a union organization. The Second avenue line are taking all the old men back. The Broadway line is receiving no applications from new men. On all the lines the men who are given work have to sign a paper that they are not and will not be subject to the order of any labor organization. The result will be that there will not be a union car line in New York. This course was adopted by the Third avenue line on the last preceding strike, and they were able to run all during the strike just ended. The Knights of Labor appear to be fully conscious of the disastrous defeat they have sustained.

At the headquarters of the men during the whole day a large number of gloomy men congregated and spoke in low tones, as though attending a funeral. James H. Magee, master workman of District Assembly No. 226, declared with tears in his eyes that although the men had made a good fight, circumstances had been against them and he would not attempt to keep the men from work any longer than necessary, now that it was evident that the companies had won the battle.

"The organization of the men has received a black eye," said a member of the executive board yesterday, "and it is an even question if it survives this defeat. I pity the poor men."

Conductor Walker, who it was believed fired the shot that killed Striker McGowan, was arraigned in Jefferson Market and held for further examination. It was not definitely known whether Walker or Officer Snyder fired the fatal shot. Both men fired at the same time, and which of their shots killed the unfortunate striker could not be determined until an autopsy had been made. The policeman's pistol was thirty-two calibre and that of Walker's twenty-two. The autopsy of the body was then held and proved conclusively that he was shot by the officer, the ball taken from McGowan's head exactly fitting the officer's revolver.

The loss in actual money to the striking men during the eight days' struggle amounts to a little over $100,000, and to the companies about $300,000. To the many retail merchants doing business in the thoroughfares where the cars stopped running for several days the loss cannot be estimated, though several of the larger firms who depend much on outside patronage assert that a falling off of 50 per cent. was perceptible in their sales for the first three days.

Weakening in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 7.—The strike on Deacon Richardson's railroad system is weakening. A few of the strikers are returning to work. Among the new hands on the Fifth avenue line are several New York horse-car railroaders. Cars are running on all the lines, but an officer is stationed on the front and rear platforms of each car. The arbitration commission met yesterday, President Richardson gave his side of the story regarding the strike, and said he would take a sufficient number of the old hands back, if they applied individually to run all his cars, giving preference to married men, but he would also retain all the new hands.

LATER—The striking drivers and conductors of the Richardson lines have signed an agreement to apply for employment as individuals on Mr. Richardson's terms, and take their chances, the company retaining the new hands, but filling vacancies with the old men. The arbitration will not be taken back on any terms. The roads will resume operations at once.

TERRIBLES CRIME OF NEGROES.

For Which One Has Been Lynched and Several Others Will Be.

SUMMIT, Miss., Feb. 7.—Mrs. Nellie Gordon's house, in Amite county, twelve miles from here, was visited by three negroes during a heavy rain storm. They asked for shelter, and were allowed to come into the house, where Mrs. Gordon and her five children, the eldest being a girl fourteen years old, where seated by the fireside.

The men at once made known their purpose, and at the point of the pistol the mother and daughter were forced to submit. The mother offered money and cotton to protect her daughter, but the offer was refused. The community is wild with excitement. One negro has been caught and was immediately dispatched. The others are at large, but every effort is being made to catch them. The negro who was caught is supposed to have made a confession implicating a number of others.

Booming John M. Thurston.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 7.—Secretary Smith, of the Republican state central committee, passed through Omaha yesterday on his way to Indianapolis, where he will lay before President-elect Harrison a petition signed by every state official and every Republican member of the Nebraska [illegible], asking for the appointment of [illegible] Thurston to the office of secretary of [illegible].

Mrs. Harrison Back Home.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. McKee reached here at 10:45 last night and were met at the depot by the president-elect and Mr. McKee. The [illegible] were hurried to their carriage in waiting and driven rapidly home.

COAL OPERATORS AND MINERS.

An Organization Finally Accomplished at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 7.—The convention of coal operators and miners was finally organized with representatives from Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. The Progressive Unionists carried all their points. The first business was the appointment of a committee of three operators and three miners to agree upon a scale. It is very uncertain when the committee will report. In the meantime all other business has been suspended. The operators in the association claim the schedule should be reduced so as to enable them to successfully compete with operators in districts where organized labor is not recognized, while miners for the most part are instructed to ask for last year's scale. The conference is friendly, however, and it is not believed that serious differences of opinion will develope.

Last night, after several hours' discussion, it was agreed to permit the scale to remain the same as last year—seventy-six cents for bituminous and eighty cents for block coal. A proposition will be submitted to adjourn until March or April to give time to hear from all districts on the suggestion to work above or below the scale.

KILLED AND MUTILATED.

A Murder in Michigan That Rivals the Crimes of Jack the Ripper.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 7.—A special to the News from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., says: Two half-breeds were brought to the Canada shore this morning from Little Current, Manitoulin islands, charged with atrocity outrivaling Jack the Ripper in his heinous crimes. The place where the crimes were committed is one hundred miles from here, and is without telegraphic communication, but the circumstances were learned by the News correspondent from a resident of the island.

Moses Esquimaux, Jack Douglas, Henry, Bob and S. Baudin, in company with the mother of the three latter and another half-breed woman, named Christina Tooch, were last seen together about two miles out from town and on the morning after, the body of Christina was found in a pool with her intestines strewn around. It is alleged that the woman was first outraged and then disemboweled, and otherwise horribly mutilated. The affair has created great excitement and horror here.

INDIANA LEGISLATURE.

After a Political Wrangle a White Cap Bill Passes the Senate.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 7.—The senate passed the morning in a political wrangle over the governor's appointments, the Republicans charging that it was the purpose of the majority to lock them up in committee till legislation could be enacted, taking the appointments out of the executive's hands. Considerable ill-feeling was engendered, and the last two appointments were referred to a committee.

In the afternoon the senate passed two bills of importance. One was Senator Traylor's White Cap bill, making it riotous conspiracy for three or more persons to combine together for the purpose of doing any unlawful act while wearing white caps, or being otherwise disguised, and fixing a penalty of a fine of $2,000 and imprisonment in the state prison for not more than ten nor less than two years. The second was a bill by Senator Johnson, providing that the death penalty shall be performed in the state prisons and that no one shall be present at the execution but the hangman, spiritual adviser and relatives of the condemned man.

A Convention of Stove Manufacturers.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The annual convention of stove manufacturers of the United States met here to-day. There were 110 manufacturers present, and after the convention was called to order, President Barbour, of Detroit, Mich., delivered his annual address, showing that there were 3,500,000 stoves made annually; that there were 101 blast furnaces in operation, ninety that are idle and thirty in process of construction. The secretary then read his report and the work of hearing reports from the committees on overproduction, bankrupt laws, contracts, etc., was taken up. The convention will continue through the week.

Received a Warning and Disappeared.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Feb. 7.—William Dennis, aged twenty-eight, a shiftless, dissolute, but good-natured fellow, living at South Hero, Vt., received a White Cap warning some time ago. Shortly afterward, on January 27, he disappeared. There is considerable commotion in the village over the affair. Some think Dennis has been murdered, others that he may have been accidentally drowned. His wife and child are left destitute.

Twenty Thousand Dollars for a Leg.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—The trial of Charles T. Orbann against the Philadelphia Traction company for personal injuries received, terminated in a verdict for the plaintiff or $20,000. Young Orban was a newsboy, and while selling papers either was pushed or fell from a traction car, and had his leg cut off.

Death of a Newspaper

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—The Telegram, which recently changed from an evening to a morning paper has been purchased by the Evening Post and will not make its appearance anymore. As a morning paper it was not a success, and the Post company only purchased it to get it out of the field of cheap papers.

They Drank Poisoned Whisky.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Feb. 7.—John Hall, a worthless character at Beaver Dam, enticed three boys named Ferguson, Chinn and Bunch, to his home and sent them a quart of poisoned whisky. Ferguson was found dead. Bunch is dying, and Chinn is very ill. Hall will be arrested for violating prohibition laws.

Shaking Up Charleston Again.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 7.—A slight earthquake shock was felt last night in lower South Carolina. The vibration was such as is caused by a passing train and was of brief duration.

Found Dead in Bed.

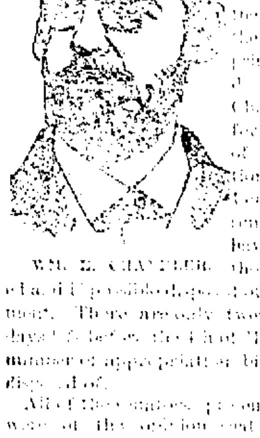
IRONTON, O., Feb. 7.—Richard Williams, a prominent citizen, was found dead in bed yesterday morning. He was over seventy years old.

An Order of Business.

Democratic Senators Caucus on the Subject.

THE END IS DRAWING NEAR.

But Twenty-Two Working Days and a Vast Amount of Legislation Which Should Be Enacted—The Samoan Trouble to Be Settled By a Conference—Report on the Omnibus Bill—Washington Notes.



WM. E. CHANDLER.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The Democratic senators held another caucus yesterday evening, after the adjournment of the senate, for the purpose of discussing an order of business for the remainder of the session. The principal subject of discussion was the Chandler resolution for the investigation of the alleged election outrages in Louisiana. Mr. Gibson is anxious to have this resolution thoroughly [illegible] [illegible] possible [illegible]. There are only twenty-two working days left before the 4th of March, and [illegible] number of appropriation bills are still to be disposed of.

All of the senators present at the caucus were of the opinion that it would take a long time to dispose of the subject. All of the southern [illegible] will wish to be heard in the debate. It was proposed that an effort be made to pass the appropriation bills rapidly, and that the consideration of the resolution be postponed until the final days of the session. The caucus adjourned without action, with the understanding that Senator Harris will consult with the Republican [illegible] and learn their views.

It is likely that the Republican senators will have to hold a caucus on order of business soon, as the important measures on the calendar are beginning to jostle each other.

Samoan Question to Be Settled.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The failure of the senate [illegible] relations to take further [illegible] Samoan matter [illegible] due to the fact that a conference [illegible] between Germany and the United States which it seems likely [illegible] the Samoan dispute.

It is thought that it will not be necessary to send a special [illegible] to Berlin to represent [illegible] in the Samoan conference, as the United States minister there can carry on the negotiations. If it should be deemed necessary to formulate a treaty between this country, England and Germany, [illegible] would probably have to be [illegible].

The German [illegible] has been notified [illegible] that the United States [illegible] proposition for a resumption [illegible] conference [illegible] in Washington in 1887.

Report of the Omnibus Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The house committee on territories [illegible] favorable report on Mr. Springer's omnibus bill, for the admission of the territories of Idaho, Wyoming [illegible] Arizona. The bill provides for [illegible] territories. [illegible] and the [illegible] their views on the [illegible] Utah.

On [illegible] the committee [illegible] report which would [illegible] matter [illegible]. With the [illegible] the [illegible] it would be [illegible] to admit Utah [illegible] this session of congress.

The report [illegible] to the [illegible] hearing [illegible] committee.

Senate and House Proceedings.

In the senate the president's message on Cherokee [illegible] Creek Indians to sell their lands, was read and referred. The naval [illegible] was discussed and laid over. The legislative appropriation bill was considered until 4:45 p. m., when the senate adjourned.

In the house the credentials of Frank B. Posey, of Indiana, Gen. Hovey's successor, were presented and the new member sworn in. The conference report on the Nicaragua canal bill was adopted after a lengthy discussion. An attempt was made to take up the bill increasing the pension of the widow of Gen. [illegible], but it was prevented. At 5 p. m. the house took a recess, the night session being devoted to Indian affairs.

Blaine's Washington House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—It can be authoritatively stated that Mr. Blaine has leased for a term of years the residence on the east side of Lafayette square known as the Seward house. It is a [illegible] structure with [illegible] rooms. The house will be in the hands of a force of workmen in a few days, and will be extensively repaired and thoroughly renovated.

Washington Notes.

The president has approved the joint resolution [illegible] the invitation of the German government [illegible] the United States [illegible] the International [illegible].

The house committee on invalid pensions has authorized a favorable report on twenty-two private pension bills. Among them was a bill granting a pension of [illegible] a year to the widow of Maj. Gen. [illegible].

Maj. George M. [illegible], surgeon, has been ordered to proceed to the Island of Cuba, on temporary duty in connection with the study of yellow fever [illegible] upon his return [illegible] report to the president.

A memorial from the Universal Peace union has been laid before the senate asking this government to use its [illegible] to prevail upon the government of Great Britain to submit the Venezuela [illegible] to arbitration.

The secretary of the navy has appointed a board of navy officers to examine the [illegible] Vesuvius and report on the trial of her [illegible]. The members of the board are [illegible] and Lieuts. Schroeder and [illegible].

Mr. Hampton has introduced [illegible] proposed amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill, [illegible] a paragraph for the payment of French spoliation claims [illegible] which judgments have been rendered by the court of claims.

Mr. [illegible], from [illegible] the centennial of the constitution of the United States, has agreed to the [illegible] proposed amendment to the sundry civil appropriation [illegible], inserting a paragraph appropriating [illegible] for the celebration of that centennial [illegible].

A LA JACK THE RIPPER.

Numerous Atrocious Butcheries Committed in Central America.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 7.—The people here have been [illegible] of the most atrocious murders ever committed within the limits of the city. The murderers or murderesses have vanished as quickly as Jack the Ripper and left no trace. All the victims were women of the character who met their fate in London. Like those women of Whitechapel they had sunk to the lowest degradations of their calling. They have been found murdered just as mysteriously, and evidently [illegible] the identical methods.

Two were found [illegible] out of all recognition. Their [illegible] were most horribly slashed and [illegible] disfigured. A sharp [illegible], evidently but dexterously used, was the weapon employed. Like Jack the Ripper's victims, they have been found in out of the way places—three in the suburbs, others in dark alleys and corners. Two were found with gaudy jewelry, and from this it is argued the mysterious murderer has not committed the crimes for robbery. A few coins were found on the other persons.

All the victims were in the last stages of shabbiness and besottedness. In fact, in almost every detail the crimes and characteristics are identical with the Whitechapel horrors. All the murders occurred in less than ten days.

The authorities are [illegible] in efforts to catch the murderer by the statement, which is generally accepted, that Jack the Ripper emigrated to Central America and selected this city for his temporary abode.

Wrecked By Rioters.

A Serious State of Affairs in Ching-Kiang-Foo, China.

BUILDINGS DESTROYED.

The American and British Consulates Looted and Wrecked and All the Foreigners of the Place Compelled to Flee for Their Lives. A British Man-of-War Ordered to the Scene of the Trouble.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Advices from Shanghai state that a riot has occurred at Ching-Kiang Foo, one of the treaty ports, and that the Americans and British consulate and seven houses belonging to foreigners have been looted and wrecked by the rioters and all the foreigners of the place are fleeing for their lives.

The British man of war Mutine has been dispatched to Ching-Kiang-Foo to protect the lives and property of British subjects.

DEMOLISHED BY A TRAIN.

A Lady Has Her Leg Torn Off While Riding in a Street Car.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—Last night as car No. 4 of the Covington and Cincinnati street car line was crossing the Chesapeake & Ohio tracks on Pike street, it was struck by an incoming passenger train on the Kentucky Central, which usually arrives here at 9 o'clock. The passengers were all shaken up considerably, but with the exception of a few bruises none were hurt, except Mrs. Loebker, a widow, living in Lewisburg.

The strangest part of the accident is that Mrs. Loebker, who was sitting in the rear end of the car and had her child, aged two years, on her lap, had her leg torn completely off, and the child thrown about twenty feet, but it was not even scratched. The car was carried about forty feet and completely demolished.

Both mules were killed. There were ten passengers on the car, and it is wonderful that none were killed. The passengers who were on the car at the time of the accident say that the engineer did not ring his bell, or give any other warning of his approach. Had he done so, the accident would not have occurred.

It has often been wondered that no more accidents happen at that crossing, as no watchman is on duty there, and cars usually cross every ten minutes. Mrs. Loebker will probably die, as her leg was torn off at the thigh.

Result of the Millers' Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 7.—The convention of Winter Wheat Millers has adjourned. A committee of five was appointed to visit Washington and endeavor to secure such action by congress as will result in reciprocal tariff duties between the United States and countries that use American flour. A resolution presented by the Michigan delegates, requesting winter wheat mills during February to use only 50 per cent. of their capacity, was adopted.

Quarter of a Million for One Spark.

BOSTON, Feb. 7.—The board of referees, consisting of George Shattuck and R. S. Hopkins, to whom was left the matter of establishing the liability for the Somerville bleachery fire of 1881, which was said to have been caused by a spark from a locomotive, have decided against the Fitchburg railroad. The road is therefore liable for the damages, which, it is reported, may exceed $250,000.

LaRue.

Rev. Crabtree, of the Baptist church, last Sunday had a full house, and the best of order. They seldom fail to have good order. LaRue's church congregations generally are orderly and deserve credit for their deportment. I noticed in the STAR a criticism in regard to filling up the pews from the entrance. The same practice prevails here to some extent, and is inconvenient to those who have to fill up the balance of the pews, besides being a source of more or less disorder. Some persons, if they come in early, keep up talking until the services commence; this is not good order. Enter the church quietly, proceed to a seat and remain quiet until the services are over. I think those who attend church regularly should occupy the same pews generally and that families should be seated together; that members of the church should be seated in front part of the house; that the aged should occupy front seats that they may be able to hear the minister. Good order is the beauty of a congregation. A very correct opinion of a gentleman or lady may be formed by noticing their manner and deportment on entering a church and taking a seat.

In my list of those over [illegible] years old John King's name did not appear. He is the oldest man in the township, being eighty-seven years old. East precinct please give us a list.

We have three old maids and [illegible] old bachelors whose ages are [illegible] years or more, in West precinct.

There is but little sickness that we hear of. A rash has been going the rounds, but does not cause much trouble. In its visit to our house it was strongly developed, but disappeared in two or three days, and seems to be a mild form of scarlet fever. I understand it is called Dutch measles by some, a disease that I never have seen.

Very quiet, but a little unpleasant in spots, yet nothing serious will be likely to result. A Dr. Walker appears among us at times and seems to stir up things a little. His troubles seem to start about Agosta and reach Mr. Myers, J. P., in his official capacity. Some of these fellows who rent town property and fail to pay their rent are looking up houses to move into, and are going to favor some one else with their patronage. They generally have the first month's rent ready and that is the last you get. Then they will swear that rent is [illegible] high in LaRue [illegible] makes [illegible] has to pay rent."

WOMAN'S WEAR.

Stripes are very stylish just now, especially for wraps.

Sleeves for [illegible] evening gowns are full and reach almost to the elbow.

Tartan stockings in either wool or silk are among the threats of the coming season.

Badger in its natural light brownish yellow is the correct fur to wear with black or suede suits.

Some new French hats have the brim worked in chenille in a Japanese pattern alike on both sides.

Homespuns from the Isle of Wight, dear to the soul of Ruskin, now appear in all the best London shops.

Brown bear fur is accounted wonderfully stylish for trimming cloth gowns of blue, green or mode.

Many of the handsomest dinner gowns now made in London are high in the neck and have elbow sleeves.

Parisians now wear the hair in bunches of curls low on the back of the head [illegible] for the theatre or opera.

London not only allows, but approves of gowns of the brightest green combined with pink or the faint yellow.

Seal plush wrought in very open embroidery and underlaid with pale blue satin, is much liked for panels to cloth dresses in various shades of brown.

Alpaca grows in favor and in fashion. Those brought over for spring wear are in all sorts of colors, and striped and brocaded till they quite disgust the rainbow.

The Psyche knot is the correct thing to wear with toque or round hat, and should be accompanied by a pointed bang, waved and frizzed, but not regularly curled.

Full dress corsages are higher than for years. Often they are only half low, and either V shaped or pompadour with a filling of lace that comes up to the throat.

Very young women who have short hair are much given to curling it very close, then combing it into a mass of fluff and tying it with ribbon just below the crown of the head.

Cashmere house dresses have princess backs and jacket fronts, coming only to the waist, over a loose full vest that is drawn in by a ribbon and falls quite to the hem of the skirt. —New York Commercial Advertiser.

THE LATEST IN JEWELS.

Etched ivory handled [illegible] are in demand.

Crumb pans with fluted borders are late productions in polished silver.

Extremely [illegible] a paper weight in a set of boxing gloves in oxidized silver.

As unique as it is pretty is a gold scarf ring representing a headless beer keg.

Rings set with moonstones and rimmed with rubies continue to gain admirers.

Silver handled walking canes, inlaid with ruby studded initials, are now in vogue.

Domestic [illegible], reproduced in gold, are seen occasionally hanging from queen chains.

Square shaped blocks of translucent agate, mounted in gold, are in the field as cuff buttons.

Some of the newest scarf pins are formed of gold wire twisted in the most fantastical knots.

Gold [illegible], wrought in Mexican designs, are much sought after by dark complexioned ladies.

An accurately simulated spool of white cotton in silver is the newest thing out in match boxes.

Pretty little daisies, enameled in yellow and white, on gold stems are now being worn as breastpins.

The latest caprice in scarf pins is an egg shaped pink pearl, resting on a tiny diamond studded saucer.

The old time pater with cap and bells complete, is a rattle that should entirely please the youngsters.

The head of a dog in green gold, with eyes of fiery rubies, is one of the most recent devices in lace pin toys.

An ivory tusk in all its natural beauty, mounted on a small silver stand, is made to do duty as an ash receiver.

Semi-precious stones possessing many beautiful shades are used for ornamenting repousse silver photo frames.—Jewelers' Review.

WONDERS OF THE SEA.

The sea occupies three-fifths of the earth's surface.

A mile down the water has a pressure of a ton to the square inch.

It has been proven that at a depth of 5?? feet waves are not felt.

The temperature is the same, varying only a trifle from the ice of the pole to the burning sun of the equator.

At some places the force of the sea lashing upon the rocks on the shore is said to be seventeen tons to the square yard.

The water is colder at the bottom than at the surface. In the many bays on the coast of Norway the water often freezes at the bottom before it does above.

If a box six feet deep were filled with sea water and the water allowed to evaporate in the sun, there would be two inches of salt left at the bottom. Taking the average depth of the ocean to be three miles, there would be a layer of pure salt 230 feet thick on the Atlantic.

Waves are very deceptive. To look at them in a storm one would think the whole water traveled. The water stays in the same place, but the motion goes on. Sometimes in storms these waves are forty feet high and travel fifty miles an hour—more than twice as fast as the swiftest steamer.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

SUPERSTITIONS ABOUT DISEASES.

Earrings were considered a sure cure for sore eyes.

Fried mice were looked upon as a cure for smallpox.

Ague was frequently treated with spiders and cobwebs. Fright was also looked upon as a cure for ague.

Warts it was asserted could be cured by rubbing bacon on them, the condition being that the bacon would have to be stolen.

FOREIGNERS IN CHINA.

Shanghai, the Metropolis of the Eastern Hemisphere.

[Special Correspondence.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—Shanghai is the foremost European metropolis of China. It is not the largest city by perhaps a dozen, but located near the mouth of the Mississippi of Asia, the Yangtse-Kiang, and upon an entirely safe and fairly capacious harbor, has come to possess a high degree of commercial importance. As a result there is a resident European population of [illegible], and [illegible] the foreigners always in the harbor and vessels [illegible] there are upon an average [illegible] there all the time.

Every [illegible] presents a [illegible] [illegible] on his [illegible]. Not all of those who have families keep their families in China with them. For various [illegible] reasons it is [illegible] place for children.

The foreign residents are divided on [illegible] lines into classes and cliques, [illegible] nationality, occupation and the [illegible] money [illegible]. Of nationalities the British predominate in numbers, wealth and importance. The Americans come [illegible], while France and Germany are about [illegible] represented. Denmark, Sweden, Norway and other countries have smaller [illegible].

A POTLATCH IN ALASKA.

CURIOUS FESTIVAL CELEBRATED BY THE THLINKETS.

The Blanket Is a Social Factor and Index of Wealth—Saving Up to Be Able to Give a Big Blow Out That Leaves the Giver in Complete Poverty.

A "potlatch" is a social institution peculiar to the natives along the North Pacific coast. The word means a "big feast," but that does not signify all that the same word is to the white races. Blankets are the signs of wealth among these people. To have so many blankets is among them to be just so rich. These blankets are stored up and hoarded just as the miser hoards his gold, but for a totally different purpose. The idea is to have a big "potlatch" some time. Often this takes place when the owner of the blankets has past middle life and feels that the time has come when he can afford to make this social display. Again they are laid up and treasured so that a big "potlatch" may be held after the owner is dead.

The Thlinket village just north of and adjoining Sitka now has about 1,500 winter inhabitants, those who are out fishing and working at the canneries and summer having come in to stay until work begins again in summer. Though they have been brought under some civilizing influences they are very reluctantly surrendering their native customs. Among those to which they still cling is the custom of the "potlatch."

ALASKAN POLYGAMY.

At [illegible] o'clock a cannon shot was heard over in the village, to the astonishment of many of the Americans here. Inquiry disclosed the fact that one of the head men of the village had just died, and that the cannon shot from an old Russian carronade was to announce the death. When the whites first began to make inroads among these natives polygamy and slavery were settled institutions among them. Both still exist to some extent at points of the greatest distance from civilizing influences. The Russian church in Alaska has steadily pursued the policy of breaking up polygamy among the natives ever since its missionaries began their work more than a century ago. The headman of the Sitka village was brought within the fold of that church, but attempted for a long time to conceal the fact that he was [illegible] living in a plurality of wives. [illegible] distant fishing [illegible] this with impunity [illegible] little or no danger that any [illegible] would expose him. They [illegible] testify against each other [illegible]. THE NEW YORK

MAIL AND EXPRESS

The Advocate of the Best Interests of the Home—The Enemy of the Saloon.
The Friend of American Labor.
The Favorite Newspaper of People of Refined Tastes Everywhere.

The New York MAIL AND EXPRESS, the favorite American newspaper of many people of intelligent and cultivated tastes, has recently made some noteworthy improvements, materially increasing its general excellence. It is in the broadest sense

A National Newspaper,

most carefully edited, and adapted to the wants and tastes of intelligent readers throughout the entire country—North, South, East and West. It is a thoroughly clean paper, free from the corrupting, sensational and demoralizing trash, miscalled news, which defiles the pages of too many city papers.

OUR POLITICS.

We believe the Republican party to be the true instrument of the POLITICAL PROGRESS of the American people; and holding that the honest enforcement of its principles is the best guarantee of the national welfare, we shall support them with all our might; but we shall always treat opposing parties with consideration and fair play.

AGAINST THE SALOON.

The MAIL AND EXPRESS is the recognized National organ of the great Anti-Saloon Republican movement. It believes that the liquor traffic as it exists to-day in the United States is the enemy of society, a fruitful source of corruption in politics, the ally of anarchy, a school of crime, and, with its avowed purpose of seeking to corruptly control elections and legislation, is a menace to the public welfare and deserves the condemnation of all good men.

Another Famous Victory.

It was an autumn evening;
Old Caspar's work was done;
And he before his cottage door
Was sitting in the sun;
And by him sported on the green
His little grandchild, Wilhelmine.

And as he sat and smoked, he saw
That little maid draw near,
A' holding in her little palm
A severed human ear
While o'er the field appeared in view
Of human segments not a few.

Her brother Jacques came likewise with
The little cart he owns,
Quite filled with legs and arms and dislocated collar bones.
Old Caspar looked, and then quoth he:
"It was a famous victoree."

"Across the field are stains of gore,
And whitening bones I see,
As evidence undoubted 'twas
A famous victoree;
And there is proof to back my claim
That 'twas a daisy football game."

A Narrow Escape.

Col. W. K. Nelson, of Brooklyn came home one evening, feeling a peculiar tightness in the chest. Before retiring, he tried to draw a long breath but found it almost impossible. He suffered four days from pneumonia, and the doctors gave him up. Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption saved him and he is well today.

INSTRUCTIVE SKETCHES FOR YOUTHFUL READERS.

A Brief Account of How That Prehistoric Savage, the First Oyster Eater, Chanced to Discover the Edible Qualities of the Bivalve.

Once upon a time—it must have been a very long time ago, however—a man who was walking by the sea shore listening to the murmur of the sad sea waves, espied an old and ugly oyster all covered with parasites and sea weeds. It was so ugly that he kicked it with his foot, and the animal, astonished at receiving such rude treatment on its own domain, gaped wide with indignation.

Seeing the beautiful cream colored layers that shone within the shelly covering, and fancying the interior of the shell to be beautiful, the man lifted up the "native" for further investigation, inserting his finger and thumb within the shell. The oyster, thinking, no doubt, that this was meant as a further insult, snapped its pearly doors close down upon the finger of the intruder, causing him some little pain. After releasing his pinched finger, the man very naturally put it into his mouth.

THE FIRST OYSTER EATER.

"Delightful!" exclaimed he. "What is this?" and again he sucked his thumb. Then the truth flashed upon him that he had found a new delight. He took up a stone and forced open the doors of the oyster, and gingerly tried a piece of the fish itself. Delicious was the result; and so, there and then, with no other condiment than the juice of the oyster, did that homeless solitary man make the first oyster conquest.

A very long time ago, indeed! He must have been a prehistoric savage, a cave man, that enterprising discoverer, and he must have lived when the mammoth and the woolly rhinoceros roamed over the country now called England—for oyster shells are found in the relics of primitive forests and in the refuse heaps left behind them by the earliest inhabitants of Europe. Britain was famous for its oysters in the time of the Romans.

Chinamen in Winter Attire.

The author of "Turbans and Tails" tells how the Chinamen at home keep warm. We put wooden floors in the rooms of our houses for others to walk on as well as ourselves; we even carpet them to make walking on them more pleasant, and in winter time we provide a fire, which is intended to warm the whole room and all who are in it. A Chinaman renders himself independent of floors and carpets. He puts a two inch sole on his shoe, and thus makes sure of having a piece of floor under his own feet. In winter time he piles garment over garment upon his own back, slips little fur lined cases over his ears and envelops his head and neck in a monstrous hood.

If driven by cold to the use of fuel, he does not light a fire for the sake of the family at large, but puts his redhot charcoal balls into the metal vessels he uses as a foot stool and into the smaller one which he carries in his capacious sleeves for the warming of his hands. Of course the rest of the family can do the same.

A Chinaman, naturally portly, is a sight in the cold season, while a little child, clad in his winter clothes, becomes a most comical object. He cannot get his arms down to his side—they stick out horizontally; and should he fall he is incapable of getting up again, and must lie where he falls until some passer by thinks it worth while to pick him up.

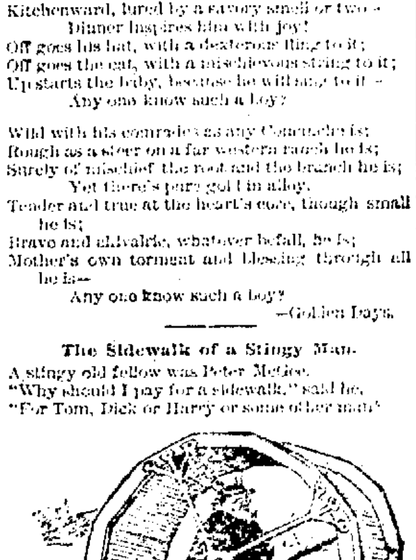
Does Any One Know Him?

Out of the street, after ringing a bell or two,
Into the house, with a rush and a yell or two,
Kitchenward, lured by a savory smell or two—
Dinner inspires him with joy!
Off goes his hat, with a dexterous fling to it;
Off goes the cat, with a mischievous string to it;
Up starts the baby, because he will sing to it—
Any one know such a boy?

Wild with his comrades as any Comanche is;
Rough as a steer on a far western ranch he is;
Surely of mischief the root and the branch he is;
Yet there's pure gold in alloy.
Tender and true at the heart's core, though small he is;
Brave and chivalric, whatever befall, he is;
Mother's own torment and blessing through all he is—
Any one know such a boy?
—Golden Days.

The Sidewalk of a Stingy Man.

A stingy old fellow was Peter McGee.
"Why should I pay for a sidewalk," said he,
"For Tom, Dick or Harry or some other man?"



PETER M'GEE'S SIDEWALK.

"Oh no! I've another quite different plan:
A circular sidewalk is what I will get,
It will be quite the thing when the roads become wet;
'Twill go round like a wheel when I'm walking inside,
And the roads—I don't care if they never are dried!"
—Wide Awake.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP.

A Saying That Has Lasted Over a Thousand Years.

Mr. David E. Stone, of The New York Journal of Commerce, has traced the origin of the saying, "Pouring oil on the troubled waters," and has given his results as follows:

"The phrase, so far as we can trace it, first occurs in Bede's "Ecclesiastical History" (book 3, chapter 15), written in Latin more than 1,100 years ago (from 716 to 731 A. D.). The venerable Bede is speaking of Bishop Aiden, who was permitted to work miracles. A priest called Vtta (Utta) was sent into Kent to fetch Eanflede, King Edwine's daughter, who was to be married to King Oswirra. He was to go by land, but to return by water. Before his departure Vtta visited the bishop and besought his prayers for a prosperous journey. The bishop blessed him, and, predicting for his return a great tempest and a contrary wind that should rise suddenly, gave him a pot of oil, saying: 'Remember that you cast into the sea this oyle that I give you, and anon, the winds being laied, comfortable fayer weather shall ensue on the sea, which shall send you againe with as pleasant a passage as you have wished.'

"The tempest came as predicted, the sailors essayed to cast 'ancar' in vain, the water began to fill the ship, and 'no thing but present death was looked for.' At the near approach of death came the thought of the bishop and the pot of oil. Taking it in his hand the priest cast the oil into the sea, when, as if by magic, it became quiet and calm, and the ship was delivered.

"Bede declares that he had it from 'a very creditable man, a priest of our church, Cymmund by name, who saied that he had hearde it of Vtta, the priest, in whom the miracle was wrought.' Modern experiments show that it was no miracle, and we have no doubt the scene occurred precisely as described. This was the first recorded instance we can find of 'pouring oil on the troubled waters.' It is now a common metaphor, used of all efforts to allay commotion of any kind by smooth words of counsel in the interests of peace."

Ironclads.

Great Britain has the largest navy of any power, although Italy has the greatest ships. Great Britain has 11 obsolete ironclads, 8 non-obsolete coast guard ironclad vessels, and 50 sea going. France has 13 obsolete, 14 coast guard non-obsolete, and 31 sea going ironclads. Italy has 0 obsolete and 12 sea going ironclads. Fifty British vessels can steam over 12 knots an hour and less than 20; 31 French can steam over 12 and less than 16 knots; 12 Italian over 13 and less than 19 knots. Of the whole number of sea going ironclads having guns that can pierce 20 inches and upward of iron, Great Britain has 28.81 per cent., France 30.76 per cent., Italy 19.23 per cent.; but of the whole number carrying 16 inches and over in complete water line armor, Great Britain has 35.71 per cent., France [illegible] per cent., and Italy 11.90 per cent.

Lincoln's Cabinet Officers.

First cabinet—William H. Seward, secretary of state; Salmon P. Chase, secretary of the treasury; Simon Cameron, secretary of war; Gideon Welles, secretary of the navy; Caleb B. Smith, secretary of the interior; Montgomery Blair, postmaster general; Edward Bates, attorney general. In January, 1862, Edwin M. Stanton succeeded Cameron as secretary of war, and in December of the same year John P. Usher succeeded Secretary of the Interior Smith. Secretary of the Treasury Chase resigned in June, 1864, and was succeeded by William P. Fessenden. In September, 1864, Postmaster General Blair resigned and was succeeded by William Dennison. With the exception of Hugh McCulloch succeeding Fessenden as secretary of the treasury, there was no change in Mr. Lincoln's cabinet for his second term.

Electors Are Free.

Presidential electors, chosen in each state meet at the state capitol to vote for president. They are absolutely unrestricted by law as to the person for whom they shall vote. The electors for Illinois chosen for Harrison could vote for Cleveland, or even for Jeff Davis, if they should so choose. They are bound in honor only to vote for the candidate of their party. The Democratic electors chosen in 1872 voted for various persons, Horace Greeley, the Democratic candidate for president, having died after the election and before they assembled in the various states to vote for president.

The United States Blue Book.

What is called the "Blue Book," published by the government of the United States as "The Official Register," contains a list of all appointments under all the departments. In the immediate gift of the president there are over 114,000 appointments. [illegible] was made to the treasury department at Washington a list of the [illegible] appointments might be obtained.

John Bull.

"John Bull," a nickname given to English men, is said to be derived from Dr. Arbuthnot's satire of that name, published in 1712. George Coleman the younger wrote a comedy called "John Bull," which was performed in 1805.

The President's House.

The corner stone of the "President's House" was laid in 1792, and the edifice was occupied by President Adams in 1800. It was burned by the British in 1814, but was again tenantable in 1818.

The First Steamboat.

Steam was first applied [illegible] in America in 1810. A steamboat [illegible] enough to convey 300 persons, [illegible] commenced running between [illegible] and Gravesend in 1815.

STORIES ABOUT MEN.

How the Duke of Wellington Got Even with Some Practical Jokers.

It may interest some of your readers to hear a characteristic story of the great duke, which was told me by a gentleman principally concerned in the affair.

The Duke of Wellington at one period of his life was rather fond of telling a certain pigsticking story, and persons who knew of this weakness used to lead the conversation so that the great man might have an opportunity of relating his favorite anecdote. But at length he became suspicious, and any allusion to the subject made him extremely angry. About this time—nearly sixty years ago—the duke was staying at Belvoir. One of the visitors at the castle had never heard anything about the pigsticking adventure, and was easily persuaded that the duke would be pleased if he were asked to tell his famous story. Accordingly one morning after breakfast in the long gallery, when seated not far from the duke, the gentleman ventured to tell his grace how much he should like to hear some of his experiences of Indian sport. At first the duke was inclined to be somewhat offended, but looking round, and discovering from the faces of the company that the inquirer had been prompted, and that the request was made in perfect good faith, he quietly got up, and, drawing his arm through the gentleman's, said: "I shall be delighted to tell you all you want to know, but let us come to the end of the gallery, where we can talk quietly." A pleasant half hour's conversation ensued, and it was not till some hours later that the intended victim learned what a triumph he had achieved over the practical jokers, and what a quiet rebuke had been administered to them.—The Athenæum.

No Use for Receptions.

The social [illegible] Coke, [illegible] is so [illegible] that the chief delight of legislation is [illegible] Coke. He [illegible] receptions. Just prior to the president's New Year's reception, when it was the social event agitating Washington people, a brother senator remarked to the Texan:

"Coke, I [illegible] you are going to the reception."

"Well, I don't know," was the reply. "I haven't [illegible] up my mind."

"Oh, you ought to go," urged the senator to Coke.

"Yes," said the latter, "I suppose I ought, but I hate those receptions; too crowded. I don't find room enough to get about, and am always in somebody's way, or somebody's in my way. Now, the last time I was at one of the big receptions I got off in a corner where I thought I was out of the way. Pretty soon along came a lady dressed in style. [illegible] backed [illegible] and smiled at me, and though I did not know her I [illegible] and [illegible] back. There [illegible] and then I noticed that she was pulling at her dress that trailed over the floor. I noticed a young fellow standing behind her, and so I reached over and, [illegible] to the feller, said: 'Why don't you get off the lady's dress?' Well, [illegible] I was [illegible] on her dress myself." [illegible]

[illegible] Methods.

The [illegible] Baron [illegible] of the great writer in the French press. [illegible] The late Baron James [illegible] Rothschild was always on excellent terms with Heine, [illegible] more than once [illegible] was obliged to make a trip to Germany, and when, [illegible] went to the baron, who, with [illegible] advanced him [illegible] 2,000 francs [illegible] to his nephew [illegible] The letter was unsealed, according to custom. Balzac read it, found it [illegible] of him, and never took it to the nephew. Returning to Paris, he went to see Baron Rothschild. "Well," said the latter, "have you seen my nephew?" Balzac proudly said that he had kept the letter. "I am sorry for you," said the baron, "[illegible] you got it with you?" "Yes, [illegible]." "If the rest of the letter beneath the signature, it would have [illegible] credit of 25,000 francs for you at the [illegible]" [illegible] Pall Mall Gazette.

A Story About Du Maurier.

In appearance Mr. Du Maurier bears a striking resemblance to Mr. Alma Tadema. This likeness has given rise to many amusing complications. Some time ago, at a dinner party, he happened to sit next to a daughter of [illegible]. "I cannot understand," remarked the young lady, "how people can be so absurd as to mistake you for Mr. Tadema. To me the likeness is very slight." A little later she said, "Oh, I bought your photograph the other day. Would you mind putting your autograph to it?" Mr. Du Maurier expressed his willingness, and later on in the evening the young lady conducted him to a writing table and handed him the photograph for his signature. Mr. Du Maurier looked at it, sighed, and then laid it very gently on the table. "That," he said, "is Mr. Alma Tadema's portrait."—London Globe.

The Story of a Country Town.

"Are you still in the [illegible] business at Boomville?"

"Yes."

"How's business?"

"Bad. I haven't been able to borrow a dollar for a month."—Nebraska State Journal.

LONG LIFE.

There is nothing in the world more [illegible] desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health [illegible] they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness.

Then, [illegible] are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and [illegible] choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health keeper, life preserver and disease preventer that has yet been discovered, is [illegible] in a concentrated and very [illegible] in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly thrust before them under various names, [illegible] that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them?

They do not know, of course, unless they have the courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why don't you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but a dollar for a very large bottle. Try it [illegible] will never be so glad of [illegible] to your life. Your druggist may [illegible] have it, but he will order it for you. [illegible] New Style Pleasant [illegible] and bottle before [illegible] you will feel [illegible] found a gold mine [illegible] a mine of health.

Only 60 Days More

And the great tearing down and building up sale of Clothing will stop short. I am still selling suits of all descriptions at sacrifice prices, and you will have to blame yourself if you don't secure one or more of them.

You never have before, and will not again buy clothing for the prices I shall offer them to you for the next 60 days. It matters not, if you need a suit or not, if you come in and see the goods and hear the price, you are bound to purchase.

Now remember, only 60 days longer and down goes this store, and then what I myself don't know as yet, where and how I shall sell goods, until I move into the new Bennett block. So you see I am compelled to sell all I can at present.

SAM OPPENHEIMER.

REDUCTION PRICES CONTINUE!

☞Our Reduction sale having proved very successful, we have concluded to continue the reduced prices until

FEBRUARY 10:

We have proven to our customers that an HONEST REDUCTION is being made in Marion, and they are convinced that money is made by buying goods now for Spring and Summer wear.

☞This cut includes everything in our stock, bought in bills of one dollar and upwards.

☞We are making special inducements in Muslins, also selling Cloaks and Winter Goods without regard to their original cost.

This sale will positively close February 10th.

Every one seems to be entering into the spirit of the Merchants' Carnival, and the business men are vieing with each other in producing something unique in the way of advertisement. Then there is to be an old fashioned spelling match the second evening of the Carnival which promises more entertainment than anything we have had in a long time, as anyone may enter the contest who desires to do so, and an elegant unabridged dictionary is to be the prize to the best speller. Let every one get out the spelling and brush up a little.

"A Trip to China or an Evening in the Orient" will be given at the First Baptist Church Wednesday evening, Feb. 13. This entertainment will be given by the 3 Lees, natives of China. Among the interesting features of the entertainment will be a school room scene in China, wedding ceremony, opium habit, idol worship to heathen Gods, shown and explained, and some musical instruments. The young ladies of the "Christian Endeavor Society" will provide refreshments and the Chinese will make the tea for a genuine Chinese tea party. Admission adults 25 cents, children 15 cents.

The matter of public highways is receiving special attention at the hands of the present legislature. Reference has already been made to the Dyer bill, now pending in the House. Another bill, by Mr. Lantz, of [illegible], was introduced in that body. [illegible] the [illegible] features of which are [illegible] stated: It provides that county commissioners may, when in their opinion the interests of the [illegible] demand, or upon the prayer of at least 20 per cent of the taxpayers of a township, submit the question of [illegible] improvement to the electors of the county. If the proposition carries the [illegible] appoint one person who, with the [illegible] commissioners, constitute a [illegible] board with the power to determine [illegible] grade and establishment [illegible] cost, let the work to the lowest bidder [illegible] sections, under the supervision of a surveyor or engineer selected by the [illegible] board. Six per cent bonds [illegible] twenty years are to be issued to pay the expense.

WARNER & EDWARDS

WHAT SEWERAGE WILL COST.

Engineer Hill Submits an Estimate of $121,261.05 for The Marion Sewer System—Other Public Works.

The City Council met in the regular monthly session Wednesday night with all members present except Mr. Johnston. After the routine work of reading and approving the minutes and hearing the Marshal's and Treasurer's reports, street and alley business was taken up. The resolution providing for the construction of a [illegible] foot crossing on east Center street at the alley between Centennial block and the U. B. [illegible] church was read the third time and passed.

The street and alley committee was authorized to lower the sidewalk and trees in front of Jas. Culbertson's property to their [illegible] grade on [illegible] South street.

The plat of J. J. Hane's addition lying between South and [illegible] streets, west of [illegible], and consisting of twenty-five lots and the essential streets and alleys, was presented and accepted.

The sanitary Committee then reported on the question of sewerage, presenting Engineer Hill's plan and estimate, and recommending its adoption. The summary of Mr. Hill's estimate of cost of the combined system of sewerage is as follows:

Mains and laterals, 14 [illegible] miles	$50,[illegible]
Outfalls, 2 [illegible] miles	14,[illegible]
Trenches, mains and laterals	31,[illegible]
" outfalls	1,263.75
Rock excavation	21,218.27
Outfall masonry	150.00
Manholes, lampholes, flush tanks [illegible]	6,997.[illegible]
[illegible] in trenches	12,[illegible]
Sub-[illegible] drains	6,[illegible]
Broken stone for [illegible]	5,[illegible]
Total	121,261.05

These figures are for the combined drainage and sanitary sewers [illegible], and the estimates makes the sewer cost [illegible] per foot, and the subsoil drains [illegible] cents per foot. In his report Mr. Hill adds that his estimate does not include the expense of [illegible] ordinances and attorney's fees, nor the cost of engineering and superintending.

The report of the committee and Mr. Hill's plans were accepted and ordered placed on file.
